Volcano Myth

Once upon a time, there were two squirrels. And their names were Sunny and Shiny. They were best friends ever since they were 2 years old. Sunny likes magma and Shiny likes water. Shiny has a blue bow and Sunny has a red necklace. They like to spit water and lava. Sometimes when they are bored they try to make a volcano explode. But it just shakes. They are also good runners. One day Sunny said, "Hey Shiny, what to race?" "Yes but this time don't run the track," said Shiny. Then Sunny said, "Fine". 1 hour later after racing, Sunny asked, "Want to lay down by the tree?" "Sure," said Shiny. 30 minutes later, they both fell asleep. The next day, they went to the lake to drink some water. They also went searching for nuts. Then they played tag for 30 minutes and hide n seek for 30 minutes too. "I..am...so...tired..and...so...hot," said Shiny. "Then go swim or spit water at yourself," said Sunny. Shiny thought for a second then said, "Are you thinking what I'm thinking?" "Maybe," said Sunny. Then they both yelled, "VOLCANO EXPLOSION!!!!" Then they started spitting at the volcano. Like always it just shook. They blow as hard as they could. But this time it shook harder than ever. Sunny and Shiny were so excited. All of a sudden it finally exploded. Sunny
